THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS
is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only, and we wish to impress upon all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The high standing of the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. with the medical profession, and the satisfaction which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes the name of the Company a guarantee of the excellence of its remedy. It is far in advance of all other laxatives, as it acts on the kidneys, liver and bowels without irritating or weakening them, and it does not gripe nor nauseate. In order to get its beneficial effects, please remember the name of the Company—

EAGAN GUILTY.

Such is the Finding of the Court Martial.

The President Inclined to Mitigate the Sentence of Dismissal From the Army.

Washington, Jan. 28.—Commissary General Eagan has been found guilty of the charges of conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman and conduct to the prejudice of order and discipline, and of the specifications there to, and has been sentenced to dismissal from the army, but with a recommendation for executive clemency.

Under the regulations, the court, having reached the conclusion that the accused was guilty, had no choice in selecting the penalty, the regulations providing absolutely one punishment—dismissal. The only hope for G. N. Eagan is commutation, mitigation or disapproval.

It will be the prerogative of the President to either approve the findings and sentence or approve the findings and to mitigate the sentence. There is general belief that the President is inclined to exercise clemency in the case, believing that Gen. Eagan was scarcely responsible for what he said before the war investigating commission, owing to the provocation under which he felt he suffered as the result of the attack of Gen. Miles and the goading of the sensational press.

It seems likely that the President will permit Gen. Eagan to retire from active service, which will carry with it an immediate reduction of 5 per cent. of his pay, with the allowances for commutation of quarters, amounting to $1,000 a year, in addition.

There is a general feeling among army men that this is the most that can be done in mitigation of the sentence of the accused officer, whose offense constitutes the greatest scandal to the service which has been known for many years past in the annals of the army.

Ex-Volunteers in Hard Luck.

When the President made his two calls on the country last year for volunteers to fight Spain, 200,000 men left their homes and employment to enlist. Since the war has ended about 100,000 of these have been honorably discharged. Many of them went back to their old employment and are engaged once more in the peaceful arts. A great number, however, have failed to get work from one cause and another. In a great many cases these ex-soldiers gave up good positions when the country needed their services with the understanding that when they were mustered out they could go back to the work they left when the war began.

In many instances the former soldiers now know that the specious promises of getting back their jobs were not made in good faith, and they are now reduced to very straightened circumstances. In many cases men who lately wore the uniforms of Uncle Sam's volunteer army are obliged to practically live on charity. The same state of affairs was witnessed at the close of the civil war and has been the case after every war in the world's history when large numbers of men were suddenly thrown out of a means of livelihood by being discharged from service after peace was declared.

In olden times these large bodies of ex-soldiers have often been the cause of much trouble to their country and have in some instances fomented riots and other expressions of discontent.

The Grand Army of the Republic was first started to help the men who were then discharged, and much good was done in the way of aiding the ex-fighters and their families. The men who composed the volunteer army of the United States are very different from the class who created trouble after many European wars. Those men were mere fighters and knew no other trade, while in the present instances the ex-soldiers, in a great majority of cases, were holding good positions before the war. Among them are ministers, doctors, lawyers, electricians, bridge builders, iron workers, mechanics, nurses and men in other walks of life, and they are besides, from every state of the Union.

In New York city, however, the distress is seen more prominently perhaps than in any other place because more of them have been attracted to that city by the hope of work. They supposed that it would be easy to find employment in such a big place.

The Red Cross Relief association is doing what it can for these men. The association has the names of between 700 and 1,000 men for whom it is endeavoring to obtain employment and can supply to employers workers experienced in almost any profession, business or trade. They do not ask for high wages, but wish only to earn a living.

During the few heavy snowfalls that New York has had this winter some of the ex-soldiers obtained work in the street cleaning department, and citizens have several times stopped to watch men dressed in the army uniform shoveling snow from the curb.

Among the men who have applied to the Red Cross for work is a preacher from Texas who gave up his charge and enlisted as a private. He thought that he could get mission work to do in New York after he was discharged. He could get nothing, however, until the first fall of snow, when the parson went to work in a light summer suit. When asked why he gave up preaching the gospel to shoulder a musket, the Texan said frankly:

"I believe in teaching and preaching the gospel of peace until an enemy attacks my country. Then the gospel of peace becomes ineffective. Nothing but solid lead, and plenty of it, is any sort of use. I thought I could better serve the Master by shooting Spaniards than by talking religion, and so just enlisted."

Girls Not to be Whipped in Prussia.
The girls in the schools of Prussia will not be whipped in the future. The government has just issued a decree abolishing female corporal punishment. This is the order which has been received by pedagogues throughout Prussia.

"In deference to the sentiment of our time, neither male nor female teachers will be permitted hereafter to inflict bodily chastisement on female pupils. Since girls are possessed of a delicate sense of honor, the extreme punishment for disobedience or lack of diligence in their case should be to be placed on a sort of 'bench of penitence' near the teacher's desk."

The boys of Prussia are now in mortal fear lest they receive, in addition to their own punishment, the whippings formerly given to the girls.

To Whom It May Concern.

Strong words of endorsement for Peruna, and for the manufacturers of Peruna, from prominent officials of its home city.

Hon. Samuel L. Black, Mayor of Columbus, O., whose picture adorns this paragraph, writes the following letter:

EXECUTIVE DEPT., CITY OF COLUMBUS.
To whom it may concern:
I can most cheerfully recommend Peruna as one of the greatest possible benefits in cases of catarrh and other diseases of the mucous membrane. This remedy has established itself in the minds of the people as of the greatest possible worth and genuineness. I have known Dr. Hartman for a number of years, and am pleased to say that he is one of the leading citizens of this city, a man of the very highest standing and character in the community.

Respectfully, SAMUEL L. BLACK.
Col. Arthur L. Hamilton, commanding officer of the Seventeenth Infantry Ohio National Guard, whose residence is at 309 West First Avenue, Columbus, O., bears witness to the efficiency of Peruna. Here is Colonel Hamilton's letter and picture.

COLUMBUS, O., May 18, 1897.
Dr. S. B. Hartman.
DEAR SIR:—Besides having the merits of Peruna so fully demonstrated in my family, I have a number of friends who have taken it for catarrh and stomach trouble, and all unite in praising it. As a remedy for summer and winter catarrh I can fully recommend it.

ARTHUR L. HAMILTON.
From the Hon. Samuel J. Swartz, Police Judge, Columbus, O.

STATE OF OHIO,
SUPREME COURT LIBRARY,
COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 19, 1897.
Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.
Gentlemen:—The result of using Peruna has been so gratifying to me that I cannot but congratulate you on the success of your remedy. Your high standing in the business community, and the worth of the gentlemen conducting this great enterprise, prepared me to expect a meritorious article only, from your establishment, but its real worth is best demonstrated by its use.

Respectfully, SAMUEL J. SWARTZ.

EATEN

By Cannibals --- Eleven Sailors, Seized by

New Guinea Savages, Tortured at a Blood Curdling Orgie and Devoured.

Vancouver, B. C., Jan. 28.—After escaping death by drowning, eleven of the crew of the ship Manbare were captured and eaten by cannibals of New Guinea. The Manbare was bound for Sydney, Australia, when it was caught in the terrible gale of December. Near Cape Nelson it began to sink. The crew, eighteen all told, left the vessel in two boats and soon became separated. One boat containing twelve men was finally thrown ashore ten miles from the Cape. The sailors were seized by natives from the interior and hurried off to the village of the chief. One man, James Greene, escaped.

The sailors were stripped and bound and killed, one each day. A wild orgie was participated in by at least 100 savages who had gathered for the feast.

In several cases the sailors were tortured by the old women and children of the tribe. The eyes of one were gouged out. The doomed men stoically watched the elaborate preparations for their death. A huge pot filled with boiling water was used for the feast, which on the first day was prolonged away into the night. In most cases the men were beheaded, their heads being stuck on poles and paraded before the men who were to suffer the same fate.

Greene was rescued by a steamer after tramping without food a day and a night to reach the coast. The scenes of horror he had witnessed turned his hair snow white.

The Doomed Democracy.
Chairman Jones, of the Democratic party, is a hopeful individual, one of those who are filled with optimism. He thinks that the Democrats elect a President they will also select enough Senators to control that body. He is right, but the "if" in his remarks is bigger than a mountain. Nothing will remove it except some most idiotic work on the part of the Republicans, and there is not much show for that. Matters in the future are never sure, but it now looks as if William McKinley will come pretty near filling the shoes he wears and the chair he sits in for another four years after his present term is ended.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Dickens and His Kittens.
Charles Dickens was a slave to his pets, and he was particularly fond of cats. One little deal kitten had the liberty of his master's study. She followed him about like a dog and sat beside him while he wrote.

One evening Dickens was reading by a small table upon which stood a lighted candle. As usual, the cat was at his elbow. Suddenly the light went out.

Dickens was deeply interested in his book, and he proceeded to relight the candle, stroking the cat while he did so. Afterward he remembered that puss had looked at him somewhat reproachfully while he received the caress. It was only when the light again became dim that the reason of her melancholy suddenly dawned upon him.

Turning quickly, he found her deliberately putting out the candle with her paw, and again she looked at him appealingly. She was loquacious; she wanted to be petted, and this was her device for gaining her end.—New York Evening World.

An Unnecessary Precaution.
The Bachelors' club of Joplin, Mo., has forwarded to Admiral Dewey a catcher's mask with the suggestion that "it is to be worn by him when he returns to the United States as a protection against the kissing on slugs of the fair sex." We regard this as a most unworthy sneer at our beautiful and sympathetic sisterhood, and we feel that Cousin George will decline to receive so unnecessary a shield. Doubtless there are thousands of women in our country, we may say our empire, who would be charmed by the privilege of kissing the hero of Manila, and from what we have heard of Cousin George, we gather that he will not treat all rosy lips with haughty disdain. But he is a man of determination and of discretion, and we fancy that when he has made up his mind that a candidate for osculation does not come up to his ideas of feminine pulchritude she will not be permitted to come within range of his rapid fire guns. Cousin George is the one naval hero who can be trusted to look out for himself. And yet the others do not require a catcher's mask; what they need is a muzzle.—Chicago Post.

President as an Elevator Boy.

White House attaches have many stories of the unfailing democratic courtesy of the President which has made him so popular with public men. The latest story is of an incident which concerned Senator Cullom. A week or two after his fall on the ice, from which he is still suffering, Senator Cullom called at the White House. He was lame from the accident, and walked with difficulty with the assistance of a cane.

He was accordingly taken up stairs in the private elevator, lugging a big bundle of papers supposed to be on the district judgeship. After a satisfactory interview, during which the situation was canvassed, the Illinois Senator with infinite difficulty prepared to go down stairs.

"Not that way, Senator," said the President. "Let's take the elevator." On reaching the elevator the President found to his dismay there was no conductor. "Step in, Senator. I guess I can manage this thing all right," and before he knew what had happened the Illinois Senator was being carried down to the main floor with the President of the United States as his elevator boy. The situation was so curious Senator Cullom forgot all his pains and with a smile said:

"You're a pretty good machine man after all, Mr. President."

"Of course I am," said the President as he deposited the invalid Senator safely on the ground floor and started back to the upper floor to the consternation of the attendant whose humble duties were freely assumed by the Chief Executive.

TO THEIR HOME.

Doyle and McClure Sent to Eddyville for Life.

They Respond to Their Sentences When Passed by the Court.

Circuit Court adjourned here last Friday, after disposing of the heaviest criminal docket in the history of the county. Outside of four murder trials only a few whisky cases were tried, the civil docket being continued until the next term.

On Thursday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock Rev. Gregory Doyle and Prof. J. W. McClure, convicted of the murder of Lydia Bratcher, were brought into court to receive their sentences. It was the general opinion of the people that each of the prisoners would address the court on this occasion and they were not disappointed when the time came.

McClure was brought into court first, accompanied by the jailer, sheriff and two deputies. He was neatly and fashionably dressed in blue clothes and entered the court room with a quick and confident step. He was given a seat within the bar and near a table on which he carelessly rested one arm. He rather nervously surveyed the large crowd of people who were present, and when Judge Jones requested him to stand up, he arose as if by magic and listened closely to the words of the sentence. When the Judge asked him if he had any reasons to show why the sentence should not be pronounced against him, he hung his head and after biting his lips a few times, said:

"Judge, with all due deference to your honor and the proceedings had in trial, I wish and desire, in the presence of this audience, to say that despite the prejudice and the evidence as well as the confession charging me with this crime, I never saw Lydia Bratcher in my life. As all my life has shown that I am a law-abiding citizen, I now humbly bow to the unjust verdict and submit to the judgment of the court as the only thing I can do."

The Judge then concluded the sentence and the prisoner was taken back to jail. Doyle was then brought in. He was clad in a short sack, mud-colored coat and looked very much careworn. He was slightly nervous and when the Judge requested him to stand up, he leaned against the table and stood most of the time on one foot. When he was called upon to show reasons why the judgment of the court should not be pronounced against him, he said:

"All the reason I have to assign is this: I never gave the consent of my mind to this dark deed. I know nothing about law and never looked in a law book in my life. I was never on the witness stand before, and all I will say is this: I never gave the consent of my mind to that dark deed."

After the sentence had been concluded, Doyle said:

"Judge, may I ask a question for my own benefit?"

Judge Jones told him yes, to go on, and he said:

"I don't want to be allowed to be put in the presence of McClure. I am afraid of him."

The Judge then requested the jailer to keep them separated and told Doyle that he would inform the warden at Eddyville, of his request.

He was then taken back to jail and on Friday evening both McClure and Doyle were taken to the penitentiary, there to be confined during their natural life.—Hart County News.

A Story of Dreams.

How long does it take you to dream? Did you ever find out—or try? Mohammed, it is related, once fell asleep on a camel's back. Before falling off into dreamland he said he saw a palm tree—the only one in sight, about six camels' lengths away. He fell asleep and dreamed that he had gone to heaven—saw sights strange and wonderful—many of them. He had no clear conception of time, but he felt, rather than knew, that days and days had passed. And then he woke up.

The camel was just passing the palm tree—Mohammed had been asleep about four seconds.

Some one told the above story the other night, after the talk had chanced on psychology, mesmerism, thought transference—the occult in general. And then one young fellow of twenty-five or thereabouts told this tale:

"I had a dream the other night that since I had it has kept me awake thinking. It was a mixture of the Faust idea and of my own master-massion—money getting. But the fact that it was over so quickly is the part that has puzzled me most."

"I had gone through a pretty hard day, and before dressing to go out that evening I thought I'd lie on the couch for a minute—lie full length' on my back and get a good rest that way. As I lay there I noted that the clock on the mantel was just striking 7 o'clock.

"I fell asleep and dreamed that the devil had come to me and said I could have all the money I wanted if I would be content to die on my thirtieth birthday. He told me to think the matter over, and he sat down in my Morris chair, and picking up a magazine, read it for a long time. In about an hour's time I told him that I would accept. He rose, put a package of money on the mantel and told me that as often as I desired money I had but to look on the mantel and the amount would be there. And then he opened the door and went out."

"I was thoroughly cognizant of the fact that I was only twenty-five years old and had five years yet to live—yet in that dream I lived them. I did not go the pace—I behaved myself—but lived sumptuously—took care of relatives and friends—traveled all over the world. I even fell in love, but did not ask the girl to be my wife, because I had always in mind the fact that I was to die as soon as I was thirty years old."

"Year after year passed and I saw no more my friend, the devil. As often as I wanted money I found it and took it with no misgivings as to my ultimate future, inasmuch as I knew that the life I was leading was above reproach."

"Thirty days before my thirtieth birthday I went to my lawyer and saw that my will was in perfect technical shape. And then I concerned myself no more in respect to my death than I would to the purchasing of a new collar."

"The night before my thirtieth birthday I gave a stag affair to about twenty men. I was as gay as any man there and the quip and jest and story had gone around. Then my nearest intimate got up and proposed my health. It was drunk and I was called upon for a speech. I rose, glass in hand. Just as I got to my feet the clock in the hall chimed out midnight—I was thirty years old. I tried to raise my glass on high, but it fell with a crash to the table. The lights danced in front of me, the men's faces faded away, a big, black pall came down and blotted everything and I felt myself falling, falling, falling—and then I woke with a start."

"I looked up at the clock on the mantel. It marked five minutes after 7—I had been asleep five minutes and had lived five years."—New York Sun.

Foul-Smelling Catarrh.
Catarrh is one of the most obstinate diseases, and hence the most difficult to get rid of.

There is but one way to cure it. The disease is in the blood, and all the sprays, washes and inhalants that are used in the world can have no permanent effect whatever upon it. Swift's Specific cures Catarrh permanently, for it is the only remedy which can reach the disease and force it from the blood.

Mr. B. P. McAllister, of Harrodsburg, Ky., had Catarrh for years. He writes:

"I could see no improvement whatever, and washes and different inhalants were used. In fact, I could feel that each winter I was worse than the year previous. Finally, it was brought to my attention that Catarrh was a blood disease, and that the only way to cure it was to expect to be cured by remedies which only reached the blood. I then decided to try S. S. S., and after a few bottles were used, I noticed a perceptible improvement. Continuing the remedy, the disease was forced out of my system, and a complete cure was the result. I advise all who have this dreadful disease to abandon their local treatment, which has never done them any good, and take S. S. S., a remedy that can reach the disease and cure it."

To continue the wrong treatment for Catarrh is to continue to suffer. Swift's Specific is a real blood remedy, and cures obstinate, deep-seated diseases, which other remedies have no effect whatever upon. It promptly reaches Catarrh, and never fails to cure even the most aggravated cases.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE.

We are authorized to announce that
R. C. Jarnagin, of Beaver Dam, as a candidate for the nomination for Representative, subject to the action of the Republican party.

THE Cubans must think that Uncle Sam is a noble old fellow, having resued them from Spanish rule, he is now saving them from anarchy.

HEREAFTER our army officers who get mad ought to be wise enough to hold their anger and let their post-up wrath burst forth upon the enemy.

ONE thing every honest man must admit and that is that prosperity goes hand-in-hand with Republican rule.
Think of '92. Look, see and feel the present.

WHEN a man is in the mire it matters not with him upon whom he slings the mud, just so he gets out; regardless of position in life—Miles' accusation of Gen. Egan for example.

THE Louisville Dispatch, heretofore the exponent of the worst features of Kentucky Democracy, is out for Hardin. Urey Woodson should ring up his Kenton chief and announce that "all is lost."

THERE are at least a few people in Hartford who would be pleased to have the temperature "way down below zero" and deep snow on the ground from November to March. It stops hay-stopping on the public square.

THE so-called Filipino congress by confering power upon Aguinaldo to declare war against the United States whenever he sees fit, has wrapped up in a budget and delivered to him their ambition, hopes, energies and aims to be scattered to the four winds in a fiery contest with Dewey.

U. S. GRANT, JR., being unable himself to pluck the Senatorial plum from the Californian assembly, is accused of getting "the boys" to help him club it out. That's wrong, U. S., take the noble words of your illustrious father for your motto and "fight it out on this line" (of truth and honesty) "if it takes all summer."

MR. B. A. ENLOE, editor-in-chief of the Louisville Dispatch since its organization, has tendered his resignation to Allen R. Carter, President of the Dispatch Publishing Company.
Mr. Enloe says he cannot edit the Dispatch under the orders of the present managers, which will destroy the paper before the campaign of 1900 begins. Mr. Enloe sees the impending dissolution and don't want the old "hoss" to die on his hands.

EX SECRETARY OF STATE JOHN W.
HEADLEY, in a card announcing his candidate for that office again, says:
"I never scratched a Democratic ticket and am in favor of the Chicago platform."

Poor John, he made the fatal blunder of omitting to say he was for Bryan in 1900. He probably did not know that Bryan, rather than the Chicago platform, is the measure of Democratic loyalty nowadays.

ANOTHER laurel is added to the crown of Attorney General Taylor.
In the suit of the Kentucky Chair Company against the Commonwealth he has won another notable victory.
The litigation was instituted in interest of the people by the Board of Sinking Fund Commissioners and has saved the State more than sixty thousands of dollars. General Taylor handled the case without other legal assistance and consequently a great saving to the State is the result, every dollar of the amount recovered going to the Treasury. He has made the most brilliant record of any Attorney General the State has had in years and perhaps the best she has ever had.

OUTGO county invites the Republicans of Kentucky to come to Hartford for a candidate for Governor and offers her distinguished son and citizen, Col. C. M. Barnett, as a man worthy of the sacred trust and deserving the exalted honor of leading the Republican party in the approaching campaign. Col. Barnett is a young man who only four years ago was performing the honorable, but arduous labors incident to farm life, but in that short time his capacity for public service has been recognized by his party by giving him a term in the lower house of the Kentucky legislature, where he was a recognized leader of his party, by making him Chairman of the State Central Committee, and by making him Surveyor of the Port at Louisville, a position he now holds with honor to himself and his party.
As Representative and as Chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, Mr. Barnett has been in the midst of the storms that have sometimes shook the grand old party about the State capital, but with that sagacity and discretion that fit him for a strong party leader he has never allied himself with any of the factions whose quarrels have lost the State to the Democrats. Standing as Col. Barnett does for unity, harmony and progress, the boys in the trenches are ready to follow him to victory.

AUGUSTUS H. GARLAND, one of Arkansas' most noted and ablest sons, was stricken with apoplexy while addressing the Supreme Court of the United States, on January 26th. He was in the midst of an argument before the court when the summons came. He was stricken at 12:15 and within ten minutes was dead. The late Hon. A. H. Garland was one of the leading statesmen of the South.
He served in both houses of the Confederate government, being in the Senate when the war closed. In 1874 he was elected Governor of Arkansas and so great was his success that he was elected to the U. S. Senate in 1877 without opposition and re-elected in 1883. He was appointed Attorney General by Cleveland in 1884. He died before what he had often termed the highest and purest tribunal on earth.

THERE is hardly a Republican holding office in Kentucky today who is occupying his position by the full and free consent of the people—Hartford Herald.

The partisan cussedness out of which the above statement was born brands its author as a contemptible calumniator of the best manhood in Kentucky.
The slanderous charge that the numerous Republican officials in Kentucky hold their positions as a result of force, fraud or corruption is as false in fact as it is shameful in statement. A newspaper so lost to shame as to defame the Guel election law—and few papers do, not even the Dispatch—should turn the wind on its smut mill with caution. The Herald is reminded that the time has come when a Republican who holds office in Ohio county must have not only "the full and free consent of the people," but must have the consent of a Democratic Court of Appeals as well.

WE would suggest to our Democratic friends and fellow citizens that as the gubernatorial contest is coming on, they should remember how bitterly they condemned that infamous Goebel election law when it was before the General Assembly and not be-like the party, ready to change for policy as the moment may dictate.
First remember your honor and be consistent. If you were once against the law for the sake of principle now stand upon your manhood and fight the author of this odious act for the sake of principle and for the protection of the ballot box, the safeguard of our liberties. Nothing can be more disgusting than for men to fight a mean thing for the sake of principle one day and the next forgive, sanction and defend for the sake of party. Before you take that fatal step, stop a moment, think of consistency, consider your honor, regard them and be a man.

In a cablegram to the authorities at Washington, Gen. Brooke says, "After three days' peaceful celebration the people of Matanzas, by their Civil Governor, Mayor, Council and Junta convey to the Military Governor and through him to the President of the United States their grateful acknowledgement for the inestimable service which have been rendered by the army and navy, together with their assurance of such conduct as will convince the people of the United States and the world that they are entitled to the confidence and respect of all patriotic people." The better class of Cuba's people can already see the wonderful difference between American and Spanish government. The light of intellectual and political freedom is sure to dawn upon time-worn and oppressed Cuba under the parental care of the United States. American rule in Cuba is like the light of high noon risen upon midnight darkness. The air is purer, the sun shines brighter, and the birds sing more sweetly and life now is worth living.

JUSTICE TO WHOM JUSTICE IS DUE.

The editor of the Herald comes out this week in high sounding phrases on "Things That Must Shortly Come to Pass." In that remarkable discussion the prophet after spending his intellectual force in eulogy of the party's past, declares that nothing can stem the tide of overwhelming Democracy in the future in Kentucky. He says that "Kentucky need never have been anything but a solidly Democratic State from Governor to Coun-stable, but for a temporary combination of unfortunate circumstances." We would advise that a wave of intellectual prosperity is sweeping the grand old commonwealth. Men are advancing. We are advancing toward the sphere of intellectual freedom in which men live and move in the light of independent thought. In the face of the mighty forward march of mind your boasted majority has dwindled to a minus of twelve thousand.
Men of Kentucky are learning to lay aside political prejudice and to think for themselves. They are thinking and intelligently thinking. That, sir, is what is the matter with old Kentucky. Your boasted forty thousand majority is a thing of the past.

It has gone where the woodbine twin-
eth. Do you wonder at your loss?
Look at Ohio county for example.
Only a few years ago Democracy enjoyed a thousand majority and Republican conventions were held in a closet.
How is it to-day? What a change, what a change! And why, how that change? It was wrought by the noble sons of her virgin soil. Democratic blood purified by independent thought has brought about the change.

And again he says "There is hardly a Republican holding office in Kentucky to-day who is occupying his position by the full and free consent of the people." Such an assertion is entirely false, it is wholly false, it is basely false, it is beastly false. Continuing, he says: "In almost every instance they got into office by force of accident, by sharp manipulation of election returns," etc., etc.

This last needs but a word of comment. If by "force of accident" he means "the fair and free expression of the right of American citizenship; an intelligent, educated ballot," then we admit that Republican officials hold their positions only by "force of accident."

You cry "poor nigger" again, you vilify the Republican party with all that is mean and contemptible and only cease when you have exhausted your vocabulary of evil. You praise your purity and boast of your power, and yet you have written upon the statute book of the State a law that puts the election in your hands and the suffrage of the people at your mercy.

THE REPUBLICAN party, even when it had almost unlimited power, never dreamed of a deed so base and low. It is not its policy to obtain power by a "howl of negro equality," or by willful and malicious slander and abuse, nor by an appeal to prejudice in any form, but it depends for its authority upon the intelligence of a free people and upon a fair and honest count of their suffrage. Sir, go to your study, loosen up the scales and rake them from your eyes. Look for your conscience and remember that we are entitled to a decent respect.

THE TAXPAYERS OF Ohio county should appreciate the splendid management of the county's finances by County Attorney M. L. Heavrin and Judge Jas. P. Miller.

The indebtedness of Ohio county last July, at which time a special term of the Fiscal Court was had to consider the matter, amounted to $30,000, upon most of which the county was paying ten per cent interest or nearly three thousand dollars a year interest on the county debt. When Messrs. Heavrin and Miller proposed to issue the county's bonds bearing four per cent for money with which to take up the outstanding indebtedness of the county and reduce the annual interest charge by about $1,800 a year. A part of the Fiscal Court bitterly fought the proposition and when a vote was taken on the measure, a tie resulted, and Judge Miller's vote was required to pass it.
$30,000 of county bonds bearing four per cent interest payable semi-annually—bonds due in twenty years and payable at option of the county after five years—were prepared and sold to Rudolph, Kleybolte and Company, Cincinnati, Ohio, at $77 premium on the whole. Messrs. Heavrin and Miller delivered the bonds at Cincinnati and paid off all the outstanding indebtedness of the county other than the bonds December 26th, 1898.

After the settlement with the Sheriff the first of this year it was found that $5,000 could be put into the sinking fund created by the court for the payment of the bonds as they became due, but Attorney Heavrin and Judge Miller, being members of the Sinking Fund Commission, concluded it would be better to have $5,000 worth of the county bonds, than the same amount in a Sinking Fund, and opened up negotiations with the company to which the bonds were sold and bought five thousand dollars of the bonds at one per cent premium.
The vigilance of the parties named not only reduced the annual interest charge upon the county indebtedness from three thousand dollars to one thousand but reduced the indebtedness itself by five thousand dollars, for which the taxpayers should be thankful.

RENFROW BROS., DEALERS IN— GENERAL MERCHANDISE, CONSISTING OF— Dry Goods, Notions, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, Hardware, Queensware, Tinware, Stoves, Furniture, Clothing, Groceries, Etc. Narrows, Ky.

TO THE PUBLIC!

We are now in the General Merchandise Business in earnest, and in truth. In these long fifteen years of experience we have, in a sense, just been preparing to sell goods. Now we are ready to sell and not only to sell but to sell right. If any one were to tell you that the best store house in Ohio county is at Narrows, you would not believe it did not the stubborn fact stare you in the face. Now, acknowledging this to be a fact, isn't it more reasonable to believe the best stock of goods is at Narrows? Certainly it is, for with the large and conveniently arranged and lighted house we have, and the long experience we have had in business enables us to take advantage of all the best and cheapest markets and to keep goods in as nice order as city houses. While we have all the advantages that city houses have, we have great advantages over them. They pay heavy city tax, we don't; they pay gas and electric light tax, we don't; we own our lights. Many of them pay heavy rent, we don't; but rent houses to others. If a city house isn't going forward (dull times) they are going backward. We are holding our own and have no losses to make up. Now, with the best house and best stock in the country and with the above advantages over city houses, who can beat us? We have learned that if a man isn't at the top of his profession he isn't in the fight. Now we are on top and expect to stay there while God blesses us with health and strength. If you need goods and want the best possible value for your hard-earned cash, we certainly are fixed to accommodate you, for no man can undersell us and stay, for we have the business figured down to a fine point and when a merchant gets below us in prices (quality considered) he loses and if his prices are higher we get the trade. No doubt you can call to mind some that have gone both ways.

Below we give you a few of our paralyzing prices: Fair quality catton at 3c; the very best at 3 1/2c; good heavy yard wide factory cotton at 3 1/2c by the bolt; heaviest at 4 1/2c by the bolt; good bleached cotton, clear of starch, at 6 1/2c; good Creemore shoe at $1; a good Creole Congress shoe at $1, an extra good shoe of both styles at $1.25. We have a nice line of dress goods of almost any kind, nice silks and braid trimmings. Also have a good line of Furniture and Stoves, and almost everything else and all at the very lowest possible living prices. No use going to the city now for nice goods, for we have them just as nice and cheaper. No trouble for us to sell goods now—No trouble to buy more, either. We will sell you the nicest and finest salt at $1 a barrel. We'll sell you goods right and treat you right. If anything should come up that isn't right we'll make it right. We are here to sell goods and must sell them and will sell them, if low prices and good goods "spell" anything. Try us once. We mean what we say.

Mr. Boss Johnson, a young man who had recently moved from Butler county to Beaver Dam for the purpose of sending his sisters to West Kentucky Seminary, was taken sick yesterday. In his death the mother and sisters lose a true and faithful son and brother. THE REPUBLICAN extends its sympathy in this hour of trouble.

Mrs. Judith Bennett, widow of Capt. Amos Bennett, died at her home in Owensboro, January 31. She was one of the oldest citizens of Daviess county, being nearly 87 years old. She was the mother-in-law of Mr. Joe Carson of this place. Her remains were taken to Pleasant Hill, McLean, county Wednesday for interment. Mrs. Bennett was a highly respected citizen and her many friends will receive the news of her death with sad hearts.

Mrs. Mary Wilson, wife of Mr. Levi Wilson, died at her home near Prentiss, the 26th. A severe attack of la-grippe which ran into pneumonia, together with heart trouble ended her useful career. Mrs. Wilson was a noble woman, a strict church member, a devoted wife, an affectionate mother and a neighbor whom everybody loved. She leaves a husband and ten children, with whom a host of friends join in profoundest sympathy. She was the mother of our esteemed fellow citizen, Mr. John B. Wilson.

On account of the absence of Hon. W. T. Ellis, counsel for F. L. Smith in the case of Commonwealth vs. Smith, removed from this county to the Breckinridge Circuit at Hardinsburg, by agreement of counsel for defendant the case of Smith will not be called for trial in Hardinsburg until the 3rd, day of the May term of the Breckinridge Circuit Court, which commences on the 2nd, Monday in May; and all parties and witnesses in the case have been excused from attending at the February, 1899, term of said court.

Mrs. Amelia Williams, wife of Mr. A. J. Williams, of near Rockport, died very suddenly last Friday. Her remains were interred in West Providence cemetery on Saturday amid a host of sorrowing friends and relatives who had assembled to pay a last tribute to a good christian woman. Funeral ceremonies were conducted by Rev. Hiram Brown. She had been a consistent member of the West Providence Baptist church from early childhood. She leaves a husband and one son to mourn their loss. THE REPUBLICAN extends condolence to the bereaved ones.

Announcement.

J. H. Patton has sold his interest in the livery business to J. W. Ross and retires from the firm of J. H. Patton & Co.

We desire to thank the public for the liberal patronage given us in the past and ask a continuance of same to the business which will be continued at the same stand by Messrs. Likens & Ross.

All persons indebted to us in any way, will please call upon Mr. J. H. Patton, who has the accounts, as we desire a speedy settlement of our business. Very respectfully yours, J. H. PATTON & CO.

Beaver Dam, Ky.

Feb. 1st.—Last Friday evening was another successful evening for the Seminary. By 7 o'clock a large concourse of people had gathered at that place to hear Miss Morgan's recital. The crowd came expecting to be highly entertained, and they were not disappointed. Those who were capable of judging were unanimous in their decision that the program throughout was first-class in every respect. Miss Morgan's work both in physical culture and elocution shows to our people that she is quite an artist in her line of work. This department of elocution and physical culture is new to our people, but it is hoped that it will be given sufficient encouragement to justify the management of the institution to make this department permanent.

The following boarding students have entered school this week. Leslie Leach, Liberty; May Rogers, Vine Grove; Margie Smith, McHenry; Ed Cook, Beda; Ellis Mitchell, Sulphur Springs; H. Ewell Taylor, Beaver Dam; Carl M. Taylor, Prentiss; J. K. Wheeler, Logansport; Lizzie Galloway, Narrows.

Mr. Boston Johnson is very sick at this writing. Prof. J. Finley Austin has been quite sick with la-grippe for several days. Mr. Ewell Taylor has charge of his room in school during his sickness. Mrs. C. H. Stevens has been quite sick for several days with la-grippe, and is no better at this writing.

LITERARY AND SOCIAL EVENTS.

MISS ATTIE AUSTIN, Editor.

Where can there be found a more literary and social town than Hartford? Surely there is none. She has always been known as a town having many literary societies and clubs of various kinds, but never before could she boast of so many as at present. Besides the two literary societies, known as the "Hypatians and Adelpians," connected with the college, she is the proud possessor of four literary and social clubs, none of which are of little moment. A short note of each will be given that the public may know something of their work.

THE WOMAN'S CLUB.

This organization known as The Woman's Club, of Hartford, was organized in January, 1896, and has enjoyed three years of pleasure and profit. It has a membership of eighteen representative women of Hartford, the majority of whom are housekeepers, who eagerly look forward to each weekly meeting on Saturday afternoon as the time of their literary and social feast. No other refreshment is offered more than pleasant social chat, and the best of literature. This body is known as an ambitious, though considerate body, eager to do something for the welfare of Hartford and vicinity, though so far nothing practicable has presented itself, though many things have been considered: but the social and literary feature of this club is not surpassed by any in the town.

"The Nineteenth Century Club" is a club of the older young ladies and the young married ladies of town. They are both literary and social in their work. They meet on Saturday afternoon every two weeks, and meet alphabetically. Refreshments is a part of their social program, and the young ladies entertain as they desire. This club keeps most of their work and plans private and the public knows but little of it as yet.

"The Entre Nous" may be called "The Club" of the town. It is the only club composed of both young ladies and young gentlemen. They meet on Friday evening every two weeks and meet alphabetically. At present they have about twenty members. The first hour or hour and a half is devoted to a literary program that was carefully prepared by a competent committee. After the program and all business of the club, the hostess entertains as she wishes. Something new is presented each meeting to vary the social program.

Refreshments always playing a prominent part. Miss Attie Austin is President; Mr. James Sanderfur, Vice President; Miss Margaret Guenther, Secretary; Miss Edna Griffin, Assistant Secretary, and Miss Annie Fogle, Critic. The club for this evening has a debate between six members, three young ladies and three young men on "Woman's Rights." Wonder who will be the lucky winners? This club with other local talent gave quite a nice entertainment not long since under the auspices of the "Women's Club" and they still offer their services to help them in the future in any way that they can. The club paper is another interesting feature. Readings, Recitations, Essays, Debates, etc. interspersed with music usually constitute the program. We predict for this club many great things.

"The Hartford Girl Club" may be called the "Baby Club" both on account of the ages of its members and the recency of its appearance. It was organized only two weeks ago and now has a membership of the lucky eleven. The ages of the girls who compose this club range from eight to thirteen years. The first part of their meeting is a literary program and afterwards games and social chats. Like the other literary and social clubs, they meet alphabetically. Like the Women's Club they meet every Saturday afternoon. Miss Sallie Taylor is President, and Miss Mattie Barnett, Secretary, of this "Baby Club." The other clubs wish for their much success in their literary work and feel that success will be theirs as they are such diligent workers.

Socially Hartford ranks second to no town in Kentucky, and we feel safe in saying second to none in the universe. A more hospitable people cannot be found. If you will notice the attentions paid visitors to our little city you will readily agree. Also the town boys and girls are weekly invited out to be entertained by one of Hartford's fair daughters. And were all the social notes published, as we hope to do in the future, you would realize that Hartford is by no means dull. There are seldom visitors to our town, who after their leave do not write that they long for another visit to Hartford. Let us endeavor to keep it alive. One alone cannot, but the united efforts of all in the future as in the past will keep Hartford in the foreground as one of the most social towns anywhere.

Quite a pleasant evening was spent at the home of the Misses Thomas Monday evening. Only a few were present. The reason of this party gathering was to meet Mr. John Goodloe, Alton, Va., who has been here on a short visit. We like him very much and hope that he will again visit his friends in Western Kentucky, and we will try to show him still a better time. The refreshments were much enjoyed as they always are at the Thomas. The boys furnished some nice music on the violin, mandolin and guitar. The party joined in singing several of the late popular airs. When we noticed the time you can imagine our chagrin when the hour hand was passed 12 and the minute hand had fallen to 6. The party at once took their leave bidding each of the young ladies good-night expressing to them many thanks for making the evening such an enjoyable one.

Mrs. E. P. Thomas entertained the little folks in honor of her son, Master Charles Lynn's third birthday last Saturday afternoon, hours 2 & 4. The guests brought many nice little presents to their host, who received them quite royally either by shaking their hands or embracing them. They enjoyed child play until half past three when they were invited into the darkened parlor where they found a pretty little cedar tree laden with dainty things to suit each one's fancy, and immediately Mrs. Santa Clause appeared, making the scene complete. The little ones were made glad with candy, nuts, fruits and popcorn, also ices, cake and wine were served. Little Charley made a most gallant and attentive host to be so young, while the guests felt that christmas time—the delight of their lives—was here again and asked numerous questions about "Mrs. Santa." A flash light photo was taken of the scene by Schroeter. Those present were Little Misses Mary Austin Carson, Mary Elizabeth Felix, Lucile Pittle, Rebecca Shultz, Mary Edith Boyce, Nancy Ellen Ford, Lelia J. Glenn, Glenn Owen Fair, Masters Walter Wedding, Thomas Neal, Estill Barnett, Shelby Stevens, Pryor Ringo.

Several of the young folks spent a pleasant evening with Miss Fannie Black and Mr. Willie Baswell at their home.

Profitable Home Dyeing.

Diamond Dyes Make Handsome Unfading Colors.

A Few Dimes Will Save Many Dollars.

In nearly every home there are faded and unfashionable dresses and coats that can be dyed with Diamond Dyes so they will look as good as new. Suits for the boys can be made from the father's partly worn clothes, and then colored with Diamond Dyes to look like new, while dresses and jackets can be made for the girls with little work or expense.

Many women dress their families in handsome, fashionable clothing at a comparatively small expense, thanks to Diamond Dyes.

Diamond Dyes are put up specially for home use, and the directions on each package are so plain that even the inexperienced can get beautiful and unfading colors by using these dyes. They color anything from ribbons, feathers, and waists to the heaviest coats and dresses.

There are some fifty colors in the list of Diamond Dyes, making all the fashionable shades. Be sure to use only the Diamond, as they are the only dyes that have stood the test of years and that can be depended upon for successful home dyeing.

Advice to Consumptives

There are three great remedies that every person with weak lungs, or with consumption itself, should understand. These remedies will cure about every case in its first stages; and many of those more advanced. It is only the most advanced that are hopeless. Even these are wonderfully relieved and life itself greatly prolonged.

What are these remedies? Fresh air, proper food and Scott's Emulsion of Cod-Liver Oil with Hypophosphites. Be afraid of draughts but not of fresh air. Eat nutritious food and drink plenty of milk. Do not forget that Scott's Emulsion is the oldest, the most thoroughly tested and the highest endorsed of all remedies for weak throats, weak lungs and consumption in all its stages.

YOUTHFUL GRANDMOTHERS.

This is an Age When the Matron Cherishes Her Comeliness.

Women of the present day are much younger in appearance than their grandmothers were at the same age. There are several reasons for this, some of them to be attributed to fashion, but far the greater number to the improvement in the laws of hygiene, now so much better understood and practiced than ever before.
In the beginning of the century it was the fashion for all women on reaching forty to put a wig over their own hair. This hideous covering was bound to the head with a narrow strap of black velvet, pinned with a small brooch over the parting of the hair, when the wearer was fondly supposed by the world to conceal the fact that she wore a wig. The brooch was set with pearls that inclosed a bit of glass, under which was a morsel of the hair of some dead relative; and this gruesome memento was considered the only proper ornament for a woman to wear who had reached the age of "cap and wig." On top of the wig a white net cap was mounted and decorated with "taste" ribbons and strings that fastened under the chin.
The wearer vainly imagined that she had defied the ravages of time by concealing the few gray hairs that her eye alone had discovered under a hideous mass of false hair. Very dainty old ladies wore bright pink ribbons in their caps, but this was considered frivolous. Indeed, none but very daring souls ventured to defy the fashion and show their love of finery by donning gay colors in this way.
Dentistry was not a fine art and a profession before the middle of the century as it is to-day. Teeth were allowed to decay at an early age for want of proper attention, and when false teeth were put in the mouth they were clumsy things that altered the expression of the face, and by no means added to its beauty or the juvenile appearance of the wearer.
Almost every person in the first decade of the century suffered from an epidemic of smallpox that swept over the country—a disease which was not at that time under control as it is to-day. In consequence the youthful freshness of the complexion was destroyed very early in life, and sometimes the features were distorted so as to change a beauty into a crone before she had reached the "thirties."

For these and other reasons it must be conceded that our grandmothers were much older-looking women at the age of fifty than are their descendants—New York World.

Fishers of Massachusetts.
The American fishing industry is centered along the Massachusetts coast, Gloucester being the seaport mainly dependent upon it. The fishing fleet consists of about 400 sail, of which 300 engage in the branches of the industry which require bait as an essential. The year's operations begin in January, when a fleet of 80 or 100 vessels goes to Placentia bay, in Newfoundland, and loads with frozen herring, for use as an article of food in the New England states and as bait in the halibut fishery on the George's banks, the scene of Kipling's novel, "Captains Courageous." These herring are taken in seines by the Newfoundland fisher folk and exposed to the crisp, cold air of the winter days on scaffolds or platforms of sticks, which all we know to become thoroughly frozen. They are purchased by the American vessels at a dollar a barrel usually, and about 100,000 are annually taken to the United States, besides half as many more which go to Canada in schooners belonging to that country—North American Review.

Central Grove, Ky.

The Central Grove school, taught in what is commonly known as the "Miller schoolhouse," came to a close January 30th, 1899, with I. Tracy Axton as teacher.

The exercises were educational and calculated to instruct as well as to please. Most of the program was of a patriotic nature, the desire being to inspire in the hearts of the students and their friends a greater love for their country and a higher sense of duty as citizens.

The decorations were chiefly of the national colors and evergreens. The Hartford Post lent the school its large flag with which the front of the room was draped. Every flag and piece of bunting that could be used was put in its appropriate place. Washington's and Lafayette's pictures decorated the room and the recitations bearing on these two heroes were well received.

"The Star Spangled Banner," "Columbia," and "America," were sung with vigor; and as the strong young voices rang out praise to their country and their country's God, a deeper devotion to our nation was kindled. Let the children of our land be brought up in an atmosphere of patriotism; let the stars and stripes greet their eyes as often as possible—they cannot view the flag too frequently; teach them from their infancy up loyalty to their country and God, and corruption will disappear from politics. If we wish to continue a great nation, we must train the youth of America to a knowledge of their duty; and "the school leads the van."

Coughed 25 Years.
I suffered for 25 years with a cough, and spent hundreds of dollars with doctors and for medicine to no avail until I used Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey. This remedy makes weak lungs strong. It has saved my life.—J. B. Roswell, Grantsburg, Ill. For sale by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.
There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effects of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. At druggists fifty cents or one dollar.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, if you send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing be sure and mention that you read this generous offer in the HARTFORD REPUBLICAN.

NO CURE—NO PAY.
That is the way all druggists sell GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC for Malaria, Chills and Fever. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteful form. Children love it. Adults prefer it to bitter, nauseating Tonics. Price, 50c.

MONTHLY SUFFERING.

Thousands of women are troubled at monthly intervals with pains in the head, back, breasts, shoulders, sides hips and limbs. But they need not suffer. These pains are symptoms of dangerous derangement that can be corrected. The menstrual function should operate painlessly.

McLREE'S Wine of Cardui makes menstruation painless, and regular. It puts the delicate menstrual organs in condition to do their work properly. And that stops all this pain. Why wait at monthly intervals for a month after month when Wine of Cardui will relieve her? It costs $1.00 at the drug store. Why don't you get a bottle to-day?

For advice, in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, "The Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mrs. ROSENA LEWIS, of Danville, Texas, says: "I was troubled at monthly intervals with terrible pains in my head and back, but have been entirely relieved by Wine of Cardui."

The Affairs of Europe

are faithfully portrayed in the original and exclusive cable dispatches which THE CHICAGO RECORD prints daily from the leading capitals of the old world. This magnificent special service is in process of being greatly extended so as to include every important city in Europe; and it is supplemented by the full regular cable service of The Associated Press.

The Chicago Record, alone of all American newspapers outside New York city, now prints original and exclusive cable dispatches daily from the leading capitals of Europe.

Biliousness

"I have used your valuable CASCARETS and find them perfect. Continue to do without them. I have used them for some time for indigestion and biliousness and am now completely cured. Recommend them to every one. Once tried, you will never be without them in the family." EDW. A. MARK, Albany, N. Y.
